Today’s Learners, Tomorrow’s Leaders (TL²) is a highly competitive three-week summer program for high school students at the University of Cincinnati.

TL² participants gain an understanding of microeconomics in a fun and engaging atmosphere.

During this program, students will:

- Tour several highly successful Cincinnati firms such as: Procter & Gamble, Kings Island, Cincinnati REDS and Luxottica.
- Earn college economics credit in only three weeks!
- Network with current UC students who can give you advice and tips for a successful college experience.
- Meet with college admissions representatives and learn about available scholarship opportunities.

Program Dates: June 9, 2014– June 27, 2014

Program costs: $480

Participants receive (3) semester hours of transferable credit

For more information and to apply, visit: www.economicscenter.org/TL2

Or contact:

Casey Woodruff, Program Manager
(513) 556-5198
casey.woodruff@uc.edu

Jumpstart Your College Career!

Apply Today!