We are The Purple Bumble Bees in 6th grade from the Little Miami Intermediate School in Mrs. Todia’s homeroom.

When we started the stock market game we didn’t know much. As time went on we gained knowledge on how to buy and sell stocks.

After a while we made a process. If we ever had to make a decision or a conflict appeared we research the stock more like when we were deciding to sell Netflix. When we were thinking of selling Netflix we looked at its 52 week range top price which was almost the same as the stock’s current price. Based on the information we gained on Netflix we decided to sell the stock.

Our very first stock was Sketchers and it was one of the mistakes we learned from. We bought the stock at a high price which wasn’t a good idea because the stock wouldn’t gain more money.

Next we bought a stock that was well known Walt Disney. We waited a while to see if the stock would go up and waited a little longer than expected. Like Sketchers, Walt Disney didn’t go up as much as we wanted to so we sold it.

Etrade is one of the stocks we bought because we had to maintain four stocks in our portfolio.

We bought Yahoo because we used Yahoo Finance to research all of our stocks.

When we bought Amazon it was at a low price so we decided to take a chance and bought it. We got high expectations for it when it went up a lot of money so we kept it but it plummeted. We didn’t sell it because we would have lost money so we waited, it went up and then we sold it.

When we sold one of our stocks we saw in the newspaper that Twitter was becoming a stock so we bought it.

Our Next stocks were AT&T and Verizon which are communication service providers. As they are competitors, we thought that we could keep the stock that does better and sell the one that doesn’t.

We bought Duke Energy because it was a cold winter and Duke Energy would get money from the heating bills and that would affect the stock price in a good way.
We bought Bob Evans at a price that we thought was good but it didn’t do well for us. We bought it because we like their food and we like going there.

Ebay is used constantly for selling items you don’t want so there are a lot of people on it so we thought it would rise.

We bought Facebook because it was at a really good price. It was one of the short stocks that we had. We hoped that the price would go up in a short amount of time and we would sell it to make a fast profit and we did.

We bought Costco for the same reason as Facebook.

Starbucks was at a low price and we wanted another stock to diversify our money so if one stock went down we wouldn’t lose all our money.

We bought Boeing because we heard the engine was from General Electric and was being made in Evendale, Ohio which is close by.

We bought Netflix at a really low price and we thought the price would skyrocket and it did. It was a really good stock for us until it took a dive which is when we sold it

That is our presentation. Throughout the year we learned that the Stock Market is really unpredictable and that we never know what can happen. And that we need to keep a close eye on our stocks because their prices are always changing.

A special thanks to Ian Fletcher and Dhruv Dinesh for being our technical producers.
